SMOKELESS POWDER.

CORDITE THE MOST POTENT EXPLOSIVE OF MODERN TIMES.

It is composed of Nitroglycerin, Gun Cotton and Vaseline—The Interesting Process by Which its Dangerous Elements are Combined.

Since the advent of the speedy torpedo boat and since rapid firing guns have been placed on battleships and cruisers an explosive that would allow to the officers and gunners an unobstructed view of an enemy under all conditions has been sought, and thousands of dollars have been expended in the effort to obtain a satisfactory substitute for black gunpowder. Cordite, the latest explosive, is said to be the most satisfactory propellant of modern times for naval warfare, and the expert opinion seems to be that in a few years gunpowder as now understood will have vanished.

The earliest records of established powder mills show that there was only one in operation in 1590, this one being in England. During the year 1787 the Waltham Abbey Powder mills were purchased by the English government. They are still conducted by it. The Faversham mills, which up to that date were the largest in the world, passed into the hands of a private corporation in 1815. The manufacture of powder was continued without much improvement, except in the efficiency of the grinding and mixing machinery, until about 85 years ago, the formula for black powder being saltpeter 75 parts, charcoal 15 parts and sulphur 10 parts, the whole forming a mechanical mixture and not a chemical compound.

Smokeless powder, however, became absolutely a necessity, for the reason that smoke producing powders masked the object aimed at, and the torpedo boat, which was becoming a recognized feature of naval warfare, could dash up and discharge one or more deadly missiles under cover of the smoke.

Smokeless powders were first produced in France, and for some time the secret of the manufacture was guarded jealously. As soon as the necessity for this kind of powder became apparent, however, a number of manufacturers devoted attention to it, and as a result various brands of smokeless explosives were placed on the market.

The most satisfactory results eventually made their appearance in cordite, which was produced through experiments made by Professor Dewar and Sir Frederick Abel. Cordite is composed of nitroglycerin 58 per cent, gun cotton 37 per cent and vaseline 5 per cent. Nitroglycerin is an oily, colorless liquid and an active poison. It is produced by mixing a quantity of sulphuric acid with almost double the amount of nitric acid and allowing it to cool. About one-eighth of the total weight of glycerin is then added gradually, the mixture being kept below a temperature of 70 degrees F. by passing air and cold water through it. After the mixture has stood a sufficient time the acids are drawn off, and the residue (nitroglycerin) is washed and filtered.

Nitroglycerin cannot be ignited easily by a flame, and a lighted match or taper plunged into it would be extinguished. It is sensitive to friction or percussion, either of which will detonate it. Another peculiarity is that the higher the temperature the more sensitive it becomes. It will solidify at a temperature of 40 degrees, and its explosive force is estimated to be about twelve times that of gunpowder.

One of the most approved methods used in the manufacture of gun cotton is this: The raw cotton is torn into shreds, dried and dipped in a mixture of sulphuric and nitric acids. It is then placed in a stream of running water and washed thoroughly. The cotton is then wrung out, usually in a centrifugal machine.

It is afterward boiled, dried, cut into pulp and pressed into disks. When the gun cotton is finished, there should be no trace of the acids remaining. Vaseline, the other component part of cordite, is the well known extract from petroleum, and its usefulness is chiefly to lubricate the bore of the gun and thus lessen the friction between it and the projectile. It also has a tendency to impart a waterproof nature to cordite.

A colorless liquid prepared from acetate of lime, called acetone, is used as a solvent in the manufacture of cordite. The method of preparing the explosive is: The required proportion of nitroglycerin is poured over the gun cotton, and the two, with the addition of acetone, are kneaded together into a stiff paste. Vaseline is then added, and the whole compound, after being thoroughly mixed, is put into a machine and the cordite pressed out and cut into lengths, after which it is dried.

To the artilleryman the nature of cordite is represented by a fraction whose numerator gives in hundredths of an inch the diameter of the die through which the cordite has been pressed, its denominator being the length of the stick in inches. The cordite known as 30-12, which is the size used for the 6 inch quick firing guns, signifies that its diameter is three-tenths of an inch, and it is 12 inches long.

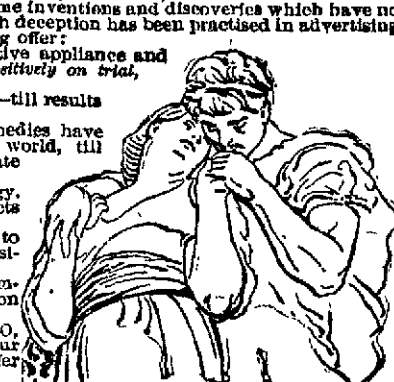

It is necessary to use a fine grain powder to ignite a charge of cordite, it being secured in such a manner that a flash from the tube firing the gun will cause the explosion of the charge. A full charge of powder for a 12 inch gun is 295 pounds, while the cordite charge, having the same efficiency, is only 167 1/2 pounds.

Cordite is one of the safest explosives known, and is not dangerous unless it is confined. It can be held in the hand and lighted without danger. It burns slowly and with a bright flame. Although comparatively a new discovery, it is used extensively in every navy throughout the world. It was manufactured first in Great Britain and was in general use on her battleships before adopted by other powers—New York

The Trans-Mississippi and International Congress is composed of delegates from every State and Territory West of the Mississippi river. The idea of this exposition originated in that Congress at its session at Omaha in 1895, and the project has become a National enterprise and the National Commission has been organized and is in active service, there being one commissioner for each of the several departments of the Government. Most of the Trans-Mississippi States are well along in the way of gathering exhibits from their respective States and many of them have made liberal appropriations, while others are preparing exhibits through private enterprise.

Vice-President H. B. Maxson of Reno, has made arrangements whereby he can get Nevada exhibits, shipped from any point in the State along the line of the C. P. R. R., to Omaha and return, and he requests all persons who wish the interests of the State advertised, to co-operate with the Exposition County Commissioner of his county, whose name is shown above, and prepare some product of his county and send it to the nearest point on the C. P. R. R. from which place it will be sent to Omaha and exhibited, and returned to the same point at the close of the exposition, free of expense to the exhibitor. Full information should accompany everything sent for exhibition. Before sending anything to the line of the railroad a full description should be given the Exposition Commissioner of the county, who in turn will notify the Vice-President, who will notify him what action to take, otherwise there might be many duplications. Apply to your County Representative for further information, and don't let this opportunity of advertising the resources of Nevada be lost.

Resolved, "That the people of the island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent."

THE DESTRUCTIVE POWER OF BATTLESHIPS.

How steel and iron fall before the projectiles of modern naval guns, how life is cruelly torn, beaten or burned out of the bodies of brave men in a modern battle by sea is graphically shown by a dispatch from W. R. Hearst of the New York Journal, who was at Santiago at the time Cervera's fleet was destroyed. He says:

"On the quarter deck of the Spanish cruiser Vizcaya, seen by many New Yorkers during her visit to their harbor and now lying beached on the southern coast of Cuba with gaping shot wounds in her port side, her bow blown out by the explosion of some forward magazine or torpedo, blackened by fire, beaten by waves, and around a collection of scrap iron as a once splendid battleship can be.

"Along the beach lay the bodies of Spaniards upon which the vultures, long accustomed to the taste of starved Cubans, were feeding. The Oquendo, nearer to Santiago, showed a huge gap in the bow where a 13-inch shell must have exploded, and another, quite as large, aft. About her the water was full of dead Spaniards, stripped to the waist. The Maria Teresa lay smoldering, her military mast twisted into unrecognizable shape, explosions now and then warning onlookers that a volcano lay nascent in that shattered bulk. The Pintón and Furor are sunk out of sight. The Oso, least injured of all the ships, is probably too badly wrecked to be of further value.

"No force under human command except the forces pent up in modern men-of-war could have caused such utter wreck and ruin within so few hours. It seems as though man—always the most cruel, wantonly murderous and destructive of animals—had in the battle ship reached the very summit of destructive art."

In reply to a dispatch sent to our congressional delegation, to urge the Government to send a hospital ship to the Philippines, Senator Stewart telegraphed the Governor as follows:
"It is all arranged for hospital ship to go to the Philippines. The ship will be secured and equipped without delay." There is, therefore no necessity for collecting money by subscription for this purpose, as the Government is amply able and as the above shows, perfectly willing to do it.

CONDENSED WAR NEWS.

A dispatch says: At 5:15 yesterday evening the bombardment of Santiago began. The Brooklyn, Indiana and Texas under Commodore Schley, began the bombardment, which lasted for an hour.

The fire was given in compliance to a signal given by General Shafter.

A cablegram of Sunday from Shafter received over night says the bombardment will begin to-day. It seems that Sunday's fire was only a preliminary skirmish.

The newspapers of Madrid openly discuss the Ministerial crisis and term of peace.

Sunday at 11:30 A. M. General Shafter notified General Toral that by President McKinley's direction, the Spanish proposition to surrender if the garrison were allowed to leave Santiago with its side arms, was rejected, and that the United States would accept no terms but immediate and unconditional surrender.

General Toral at 2:45 P. M. replied in a brief note that he rejected President McKinley's proposal and would consent to no other terms than those offered by himself.

At 8:25 P. M. General Shafter notified General Toral that the armistice would terminate at 4 o'clock.

At El Caney there are ten thousand miserable refugees, old men and women, whom the Spaniards have permitted to go to our lines to get food. The Americans are doing all they can for them.

The Olivette is at Guantanamo ready to sail at any moment for Hampton Roads. She has on board 500 wounded soldiers.

A cablegram from Fort Sald says:
The remainder of Admiral Camara's fleet has sailed for Spain.

The War Department has posted a dispatch from General Shafter giving the names of two killed and five wounded in Sunday's skirmish.

A majority of the American Generals, General Wheeler leading, were in favor of accepting General Toral's surrender, on the grounds that they could march out to the sea and burn the communication

Curran's Motive
Mr. Justice Robinson's encounter with John Philip Curran has been the most successful instance of repartee on record.
Judge Robinson was known to be the author of some anonymous pamphlets, a circumstance which gave Curran an opportunity of retort when the judge made a brutal attempt to crush him when a young and inexperienced man was present.

"I have searched all my lawbooks," said Curran, "and I can find no precedent on the point."
"Your law library," said the judge,
"is rather contracted."
"I look," replied Curran, "may be true, but the title pages give me the writers' names. My shelf is not disgraced by any of such rank absurdity that their very authors are ashamed to own them."

"If you say another word, sir," said the judge, "I'll commit you."

"Then, my lord," replied Curran, "it will be the best thing you have committed this term."

The judge endeavored to get Curran disbarred, but failed.—Law Notes.

Patriotic Hancock.

During the siege of Boston General Washington consulted congress upon the propriety of bombarding the town of Boston. Mr. Hancock was then president of congress. After General Washington's letter was read a solemn silence ensued. This was broken by a member making a motion that the house should resolve itself into a committee of the whole in order that Mr. Hancock might give his opinion upon the important subject, as he was deeply interested from having all his estate in Boston.
After he left the chair he addressed the chairman of the committee of the whole in the following words, "It is true, sir, nearly all the property I have in the world is in houses and other real estate in the town of Boston, but if the expulsion of the British army from it and the liberties of our country require their being burned to ashes I issue the order for that purpose immediately."

FIRST NEVADA CAVALRY.

At the Presidio, The National Cemetery General Camp Notes.

EDITOR NEVADA STATE JOURNAL—Since its arrival here, four weeks ago, the Nevada Cavalry Troop has undergone a good many changes for the better. It fell to their lot to remain only a few days in that most exposed and decidedly undesirable spot, Camp Merritt, situated on the corner of First Avenue and California Street. By orders of Major General Otis, commanding Independent Division of Philippine Islands Expeditionary Forces, dated June 21st, the troop was relieved from duty with the Fourth Brigade and assigned to General Marcus P. Miller's First Brigade. On the following day camp was moved to the Presidio, where Captain Lincoln reported for duty to Major Kellogg, commanding the First and Second Squadrons of the Fourth United States regular Cavalry, as Troop A, First Nevada Volunteer Cavalry. Our boys are sharing guard and picket duty with the Second Squadron, composed of troops B and G, under immediate command of Major Rucker. Troop A furnishes an average daily detail of five men.

The present camp is situated on an easy slope of the Presidio reservation, with a commanding view of the entire post and of that pretty portion of the Bay, in which Alcatraz Island lies. It is sheltered to the West by a dense grove of Australian Eucalyptus trees, the latter exuding to a certain extent the chilling winds and fogs from the ocean. Each tent accommodates now five troopers instead of four, as heretofore at Merritt.

The fare is good and wholesome. Fresh meats of different kinds, potatoes and home made bread are daily supplying the place of regulation "salt horse," bacon and hardtack.

The general health is excellent. But one case of sickness had occurred, when a little over a week ago Private Sidney Thomas of Austin was taken down with measles. He is now a convalescent in the reservation hospital and will within a few days report for duty.

As to clothing they still lack over shirts, overcoats and gloves; but in this respect, they fare no worse than the rest of the volunteer organization scattered over the two great camps. Only last week found the Seventh Cavalry fully equipped. They were recruited as a full infantry regiment in the southern part of the State at the outbreak of the war, and have been in Uncle Sam's muster roll for more than two months.

In compliance with a cable request by General Anderson, commanding the First Expedition recently arrived in Manila, for regular Cavalry and Artillery, the Division Commander has ordered General Miller to get ready to embark on the "City of Para" and the "Cera" with the Fourth Cavalry and part of the Third Artillery, stationed at the Presidio.

In this instance several circumstances militate against our boys' chances of going with this expedition, chief among which are that they are not regulars and that they are not unprovided with horses. Should the Nevada Troop be left behind, another re-assignment would become necessary. So far, Captain Lincoln is totally at sea as to the future disposition of his command while at the Presidio. One fact, however, seems reasonably certain, the continued war or peace—more soldiers will be required than the 10,000 still remaining here to occupy the Philippine Islands in the near future.

THE NATIONAL CEMETERY.

A pride to the soldiers as well as to military authorities, covers a considerable acreage in the south west portion of the Presidio reservation. It is surrounded by a veritable forest of cypress and gum trees, lined on both sides by a high and strong, chained cypress fence, forms the approach to the entrance, in the shape of a huge iron gate. The interior is kept in neat condition by the garrison. The headstones surmounting all graves are symmetrically arranged and present perfectly straight lines in any direction. Quite a number of appropriate military statues and monuments are so placed as to vary the natural somber monotony of a graveyard. The disproportionate mortality within the last month at Camp Merritt has materially increased the ranks of the silent population in this cemetery.

The sanitary condition of Camp Merritt is deplorable. Army surgeons report daily an increase of sickness. Just at present over 400 soldiers are on the sicklist and deaths are almost daily occurrences; pneumonia, cerebrospinal meningitis being the principal diseases that result fatally.

Captain Lincoln is in receipt of a number of aluminum mementoes, ordered and paid for by the Red Cross Society of Reno. They will be distributed immediately, and a list forwarded to the kind ladies, with the name of each trooper opposite the number, engraved on each medal.

Each soldier is allowed $1.00 a month to draw on the Post-Exchange for tobacco and other things. The Captain has to issue a certified check of that amount. Pay day is eagerly looked for.

COLONEL LORD REPORTS FOR DUTY.

He Stands by His Report and Claims Good Reasons for so Doing.

Colonel F. C. Lord passed through Reno on Sunday evening for San Francisco, where he will report for duty as additional Paymaster of U. S. Volunteers. The Colonel has no idea yet as to where he will be assigned, but says he is ready to go wherever they send him. Upon his arrival at Carson on Sunday evening he was received at the depot by all of the companies now at Camp Sadler. The boys cheered him and the Colonel responded, thanking them for their kindly recognition and good will. He gave them good advice and hoped that his assignment might be such that he would be near and associated with them. He cautioned them in various ways and hoped they would all return to Nevada in due time with glory emblazoned on their banners. The boys gave the Colonel a hearty goodbye and send off.

Colonel or Major Lord as it is now, or he has received his commission and rank, is of the opinion that three or four months will end the present war and that in all probability the volunteers will then be rapidly mustered out of the service and regulars placed in charge at such points as will need the rescue of soldiers. He does not believe that this can be done all at once, but the Government will move in this direction as soon as the war is over. When asked regarding his report concerning the State Militia, he simply replied that he believed he had done his duty and was ready to stand by the position he had taken. He claims he had looked for much from the State Militia and had received assurances from several of the officers of the various companies that were a battalion ordered the members would respond readily, but when the necessary steps were taken and the call made he was surprised at the change of conditions from the assurances given him in the explanation and if the battalion was to be formed at all, it must come, to a great extent, through recruits. He hopes that now the State Militia will be organized on a better footing and believes that it will yet be an honor to the State.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught which settled on her lunger; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. She bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottle of this Great Discovery at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Commissioned a Surgeon.

A Board of three regular practitioners of medicine, namely, Dr. James Ginnin of Carson, Dr. G. H. Thoma of Reno, and Dr. A. Huffaker of Carson, appointed by Governor Sadler, met at Carson yesterday and examined Dr. S. E. D. Pluniger of Cortez, who was nominated for Surgeon of the Nevada Battalion by Governor Sadler. The Board pronounced Dr. Pluniger well schooled in medicine and surgery, and fully qualified to perform professional work in any situation he may be placed. They also pronounced him physically qualified.

THE NEVADA BATTALION.

The Officers Examined by the Surgeon Yesterday.

The Nevada Infantry Battalion called for by the War Department is rapidly filling up. Yesterday about 330 men had been enrolled and recruiting officers are filling up the ranks.

The men are nearly all furnished with uniforms, as they are enlisted by the National Guard officers, and they present a very soldierly appearance.

The Battalion Surgeon, Dr. Pluniger, was examined and mustered into the service of the United States yesterday, and immediately proceeded to examine the several officers of the militia regarding their physical qualifications.

The men will be examined by him as rapidly as circumstances will permit, but the work is necessarily slow as every enlisted man is required to answer several questions, which are taken down in writing.

It is expected that within a week the full battalion of 424 men, including officers, will be enrolled and mustered into the service of the United States. The officers as well as the privates are thoroughly examined, and rejected if not physically perfect.

The Elko and Winnemucca Boys Breakfasted Here.

On the arrival of the Winnemucca and Elko troops Sunday morning, a committee of citizens decided to arrange to breakfast the boys, and with this in view soon succeeded in collecting the sum of $43. The boys were given a good breakfast, and the ladies of the Red Cross saved a vast amount of work.

The following is the report of the committee.

AMOUNT COLLECTED.
Clarendon hotel, 25 men	6 25
Palace hotel, 40 men	10 00
Arcade hotel, 41 men	10 25
Total, 106 men	$26 50

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in the most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and shies, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters,' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement, I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

To the Citizens of Reno.

On account of shortage of water, we are compelled to shut off the street lights. We are putting men to work on our canal in order to move our plant, where it was intended in the first place, and where we have forty feet of fall instead of sixteen feet which we now have. We also intend to put our steam plant in order, in case of an emergency.
